

Partnering with a Purpose: A Curriculum Dream Team

How to Provide a Guaranteed and Viable Curriculum to Your Districts

Helping districts put all the pieces of their curriculum together can be extremely challenging. Pulling together standards, resources, pacing, activities, and everything else needed to teach a course, into a central district curriculum framework may seem like an insurmountable goal.

It's not! Join the expanding network of educational service agencies that have partnered with BuildYourOwnCurriculum (BYOC) to help their districts efficiently and effectively develop a district-wide curriculum.

It takes more than organizational tools to construct solid curriculum into a format that can be easily managed year after year. For this reason, we selectively collaborate with exceptional educational service agencies to ensure our school districts have localized access to certified experts for specialized support.

As a certified partner, your agency will be able to provide the following for your districts:

- Professional development for BYOC, which easily incorporates into your ongoing curriculum services.
- Customized research-based practical process for the design, development, and implementation of local standards-based curricula, assessments, and instruction.
- A systematic, collaborative process for sustaining, revising, and improving curriculum.

AESA Business Partner

We are excited to have teamed up with the Association of Educational Service Agencies as an official Business Partner to bring our world-class curriculum development framework to AESA members and the districts that they work with.

District Administration Readers' Choice Top 100 Product

We are thrilled to receive the District Administration Top 100 Products Award for the 5th time in the past 6 years. This annual award informs school district leaders of the most innovative products their colleagues are using to help their districts excel. We would like to thank our clients for this honor and their continued support of BYOC in their schools!

What are ESAs Saying About BYOC?

“As an education service center, we want to be known for helping districts make good choices about the technology and services they use. We can help them by doing the research and finding quality products that administrators, school staff, teachers, and even children will use on a daily basis to continuously support and improve growth and achievement efforts. We did the research and we put curriculum tools to the test. BYOC is our number one solution we offer to our districts as a powerful curriculum and instruction management tool.”

- Michael Koonce, Director Learning Services
Southeast Kansas Education Service Center, Kansas

“BuildYourOwnCurriculum is a natural fit with our Instructional Services because it brings value to documenting curriculum by making curriculum valuable to teachers. As we collaborate with curriculum teams to develop, document, and monitor a comprehensive, aligned curriculum, BYOC helps ensure the process is systematic.”

- Dr. Joan Wade, Executive Director, AESA
Former Chief Education Officer, CESA 6, Wisconsin

“BYOC makes the act of writing an effective curriculum an organized and meaningful process. The days of teaching a textbook or novel are gone. The idea of blindly using the questions at the end of a chapter to determine what students are to know will not ensure teachers are aligning their content, instruction and assessment to the expectations of the new standards. Using this tool, teachers are able to design curriculum that defines the learning progressions necessary to attain the level of classroom rigor and relevance students must engage in if they are to graduate from high school college- and career-ready.”

- Sharon Waite, Executive Director
Show-Me Curriculum Administrator’s Association, Missouri
